The Cosmoscow fair presented a special program at Stoleshniki House: an installation, a gastronomic program, and a party for gallery owners

In partnership with Stoleshniki House, the Cosmoscow International Contemporary Art Fair presented a special program. As part of the collaboration, the “Fountain” installation was installed in the space’s courtyard, and the venue’s residents prepared a culinary program inspired by contemporary art.

On September 5, a party for gallery owners participating in the 14th edition of the Cosmoscow fair was held in the Nuance restaurant in the Stoleshniki House courtyard, supported by Beluga and Tête de Cheval. Guests were treated to a special menu of signature appetizers, and the floral design for the event was provided by the Leti Lepestok workshop. Musical accompaniment for the evening was provided by Cosmoscow 2026 Artist of the Year Igor Samolet.

The restaurants Nuance, Debut, and FOUND Rāmen & Rekōdo have introduced special menu items that explore the art of gastronomy through the interplay of taste, form, materials, and the preparation process. At Nuance, you can try Cosmos Cow's Milk, a twist on Aviation, inspired by Oleg Khvostov's Cosmos Cows series. Debut appeals to the logic of ready-made food, transforming a sausage in dough into a gastronomic object with a direct reference to Maurizio Cattelan's "Comedian." FOUND Rāmen & Rekōdo is offering two cocktails: Drunken Confessions, created in dialogue with the eponymous project by Igor Samolet, Cosmoscw 2026 Artist of the Year; and Resonance, which continues the story of "Fountain" through FOUND's signature principle of combining Food and Sound. The dishes and cocktails are available until September 13.
